FMS decides to temporarily close Sillinger (S.A.S.)

Future Mobility Solutions (FMS) today announced the temporary closure of Sillinger (S.A.S.) its 70% owned French subsidiary.

The decision to close was in response to the Coronavirus pandemic and the announcement from the French President Emmanuel Macron calling for all citizens to stay home.

Chairman Eric Series said “we have decided to close in order to protect our staff and to follow the French government’s strong response to the Coronavirus. He went on to say, “whilst a difficult decision to make, the safety and health of staff is most important.”

Sillinger will re-open its doors when the health situation will allow it.

Sillinger is headquartered in France and manufactures a wide range of craft under the Sillinger and Rafale brand and focuses its sales to government authorities throughout Europe.
